The Live Local Act Senate Bill 102:

It contains $771 million in funding for affordable housing programs through the Florida Housing Finance Corp. (FHFC). That breaks down to $259 million for the SAIL programs with low interest loans for developers; $252 million for the SHIP program with loans to developers in partnership with local government funding; $100 million to alleviate inflation-related costs for affordable housing projects; $100 million for Hometown Heroes to provide down payment and closing cost assistance to first-time homebuyers who work in law enforcement, firefighting, education, health care, child care or military/veterans.

It also created a sales tax refund of up to $5,000 on building materials for affordable housing projects funded by FHFC.

Under the act, a municipality must authorize a multifamily or mixed-use project in an area that's already zoned for commercial, industrial, or mixed-use if the developer agrees to make at least 40% of the residential units affordable housing or workforce housing for 30 years. That means the rentals would be for people earning up to 120% of the area median income. This project would be approved by the city administration without a zoning, land use change, special exception or comprehensive plan amendment, so the City Commission wouldn't need to vote. If this is a mixed-use project, at least 65% of the building must be for residential.

The density allowed at such a project could be equal to the highest density allowed anywhere in the municipality where residential is permitted. As for height, the project could be as tall as any building within a one-mile radius in the same city, or three stories, whichever is taller. The developer could also reduce the number of parking spaces if the site is near a public transit stop.
